

Review of 'Effects of Oscar Awards on Movie Production'

Summary

The article analyses impact of Oscar awards on spanish movie industry. The Autors propose several transmission chanelns od tranforming signal generated by the award on movie production. They also aim to test proposed mechanisms.

Evaluation

It's not very clear what problem are the Autors solving and why is it relevant.

The Autors proove existence of some kind of inference, but interpretation is rather insufficient. Given analysis is also not enough to claim causality. In my opinion robustness check should test an effect of some other film award than Oscars, being considered Oscar predictors. Good example would be BAFTA or Golden Globes.

In conclusion, although the proposed article is potentially interesting, it still needs some work. Now it looks more like an initial draft rather than a publishable article.
